IMANI'S STUDY GUIDE TIPS & TRICKS

Here are some tips and notes regarding how to get the most from using Imani's Website Study Guide resources.

1. Read Imani's Advice, Preparing to Study
2. Study each topic separately.
3. Set up a study schedule for a defined period, e.g. 6 weeks.
4. You can decide on any length of time to study, in accordance with your other commitments, however a minimum of 6 weeks and a maximum of 3 months or 12 weeks should be adhered to for each topic to be studied..
5. Remember you are only building or setting up a foundation, to gain a broader knowledge base, each topic can and should become a lifetime study and even after this, you would still need more time to know everything concerning it.
6. Complete your schedule and study plan, e.g. how many books you wish to read or time you will spend reading, watching video's etc. (this will determine what you can realistically learn and achieve over this period).
7. It is suggested that to get any realistic benefit from this research or your study plan you must allocate a minimum of 1 hour per day to your study, e.g. 1hr x 7 days = 7hrs x 6 weeks = approximately 42 hours of study per topic. Sufficient time to form a good knowledge base, as most Level 1 courses are normally only 30 hrs maximum in the UK.
8. Set yourself realistic goals of what you think you want to know by the end of your study.
9. Review your study progress at least twice during your schedule e.g if a 6 week schedule then on your 2nd and 4th week. Review you study a maximum of 4 times over the duration of your research.
10. Set up a new folder or folders on your computer (device) in order to save your personal notes and to archive corresponding researched material. e.g. Main Folder = My History Research, Sub Folders = Prehistory / Ancient History etc.
11. Remember to always identify and select all necessary known available resources needed, before you begin to study.
12. Choose what ever method of assessment suits you, to monitor and measure your progress e.g. TEST, GAME. PUZZLE or QUIZ provided through this website. "Please try to use all these tools when available as a means of evaluating your progress, measuring your achievements and most importantly have fun".
